Observation, Evaluation...

....Implementation of new Ideas!

From Cultural Stereotypes to Exemplary Excellence

Shaheen changed the educational and cultural scenario

Tuitions are mostly Commercial time-pass.

It is an insult to Teachers and Schools.

Shaheen's result oriented Initiatives:

- Tuition free
- Individual Attention
- Totally dedicated Staff

Shaheen Fulfilling the Educational Needs..Completely!

This new thinking led us ... to Systemize it as AICU.

AICU: A New Concept

ACADEMIC INTENSIVE CARE UNIT

Shaheen Research, Analysis and experience findings

Prime reasons for dropout

- Dearth of quality education.
- Children from Class 6th onwards lack language ability.
- Hence, difficulty in understanding other Subjects.
- From this stage they start observing outside world and influenced by friends, family, neighbours, and media.
- Schooling becomes a burden and outside interests appeal.
- Poverty is not the only reason, it is just 20%.

AICU Method of Teaching & Assessment

Method of Teaching

- Teacher—Students
Best Ratio 1:6.
- One to one teaching
- Individual attention.
- Daily classwork,
home work,
and doubt clarifications.

Measurement and evaluation:

Daily dictation tests. Weekly written tests.

Counseling:

The child and parents are compulsorily counseled before making admissions and during course.

A few Shining Examples:

1. Muhammad Anzer dropout at 12th Arts from Govt. College, Bidar. He joined Shaheen and studied 11th-12th PCMB and passed. He further did D. Ed., 89%; B.Sc., 72%; B.Ed., 86%; M.Ed., 83%, and M.Sc Maths 67%. He started as a Maths Lecturer at Shaheen and now is Principal of a College under Shaheen Group.
2. Muhammad Arshad is a dropout from 12th Arts. He joined Shaheen and passed 12th PCMB with 67%. He further did D.Ed., 87%; B.Sc Horticulture 79%; M.Sc Horticulture 76% and now pursuing Ph.D. in Horticulture. He is also serving as an Officer in Govt. Horticulture Department. Bidar.

A few Shining Examples:

From 7th Class dropout to a College Head

3.Mr. Khaja Patel from Bidar was weak in Schooling and dropped out after 7th Class. He spent 3 ½ years working as a Car Garage helper. Joined Shaheen School, with four months preparation along with AICU he appeared for State Board SSLC and passed out in flying colours. He passed 12th PCMB with 65% and did B.E. with high first class.

He is back to Shaheen.

He is now heading a College under Shaheen Group.

THE HINDU

It's a short hop from madrasas to science labs

Rishikesh Bahadur Desai

BIDAR / BELAGAVI, SEPTEMBER 03, 2017 00:00 IST
UPDATED: SEPTEMBER 03, 2017

Educational experiment by Shaheen Colleges is helping students leaving religious schools pursue medicine, engineering courses. Looking like a doctor in a Hindi movie, Abu Sofyan can offer both — Dawa and Dua (medicine and prayers) to his future patients. The second year MBBS student at Raichur Institute of Medical Sciences is a 'Hafiz', who can recite the Holy Koran by heart.

He spent over six years in madrasas in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu before getting into high school. The boy from Hebbal in Bengaluru, had never been to school before that, nor studied subjects like Science, Mathematics or languages other than Arabic and Urdu. But, the 'disciplined madrasa life' helped him get good grades in pre- university and a medical college seat. Ahmed Mehboobsaab, an engineering college student, also extols his early education. "I realise that the basic principles of engineering are about the wholesome study of nature that the Koran emphasises," he says. Coming from a poor family in Chikkabanavara, in north Bengaluru taluk, he spent nearly a decade in a madrasa.

"When I joined high school, I felt transplanted into a strange place. I had difficulty keeping up. But I managed to leave with good marks. I never imagined I would become an engineer," he says.

Their experiences are not isolated. Hundreds of madrasa graduates are in mainstream colleges now, thanks to a project of Allama Iqbal Education Society, which runs the Shaheen College in Bidar and other cities. Six years ago, Shaheen colleges began offering Hifz-Ul- Koran plus course, bringing mainstream education to madrasa system students.

Boys and youths from Haryana, UP and Karnataka who had completed 10-15 years of madrasa education were enrolled in eighth and ninth standard. They underwent a 10-month bridge course, learning Kannada, English, Mathematics, Science and Social Studies. They were then ready to face the SSLC board. With their rigorous working style, most passed. They also got focused training, with one teacher for every four students. The Bidar centre has trained around 350 students since 2011.

Students from Bihar, U.P. and West Bengal picked up an alien subject like Kannada and got good marks. Many are now studying arts, commerce and science. Some have got into engineering and medicine. Hifz-Ul- Koran rates itself a success, with Shaheen college supervising the opening of 10 similar centres, including in Kolkata and some towns in UP. Shaheen runs a centre in Bengaluru too.

Playing a positive role
Welcoming the initiative, Hafiz Moulana Waheedudin Umri, head, Ulema Council, Karnataka, says: "Some people blame madrasa education for making young people vulnerable to right wing influences. But it is not so. Several highly educated youth including computer engineers have joined terror outfits. It is the weakness in personality that attracts youth to such disastrous pursuits," he says.

"A youth with a wholesome education is less likely to stray. Full understanding of the world and exposure to modern subjects will help youth discard wrong influences," he says.

The number of students in Shaheen Hifz-Ul-Koran plus class has gone up from 12 in 2011 to 200 now. They are from 19 States and even Nepal and the Middle East.

There are nearly 400 Hafiz students in such courses. In Belagavi, Niyaz group that runs Biryani hotels has started its own Hifz-Ul- Koran plus centre.

"Graduates of madrasas have few job opportunities. Most end up opening another madrasa. Almost all are deprived of chances of getting professional education or higher education. This may be their only chance," says Abdul Quadeer, secretary of the Shaheen group of institutions.

"We began in the face of skepticism from some Ulema, but we succeeded. Now, they have all come around as they realised we were training boys once they were out of the madrasas and not while they were inside," Mr. Quadeer says.
